"Our Message."

BASSETT & CO.
DRY GOODS.

It does not require an especial message from the President to tell the people what is the pressing and imperative demand of the Dry Goods business.

What our country needs and unanimously demands is the prompt and immediate repeal of High Prices, and the thorough establishment of the Cash System.

The "power of money" is easily seen in a house that does strictly a cash business. You will not only see it, but you, yourself, reap the benefits. The time has come for action. We must all unite and stand together in one common effort to save money. How can you better begin than to do your Fall business with a thoroughly reliable, one price, cash house.

The credit system of our country is building up and encouraging a fictitious and unreliable business, and loses its customers when they fail to pay. We sell only for cash, and pay cash for what we buy. Cash secures for us large discounts and buys the best things the market affords. Our Mr. Bassett writes from New York that "prices are firm on all lines, but we bought our New Fall Stocks as cheap as scarce article 'Cash' will secure." Conservative and judicious buyers realize these facts, and to-day Hopkinsville has a business house which she points to with pride.

During the past season of unusual stringency, the credit houses of our land have sent up a cry that has been heard across the continent. Many of them, indeed, having been lost in the storm of financial distresses. But here we are. Strong and ready to meet every emergency, grafting fast and firmly upon the soil of the nation's safety. The only way to meet the lowest possible price, but governs the purchasing rate among the wholesale houses. And above all enabling us to show that we can best measure the worth of products by their value. It is to you, to our country, a cash business of sound principles.

What a national triumph it would be if all the business houses had to conduct their business on this sound, practical basis like we!

The True Laxative Principle.

Of the plants used in manufacturing the laxatives, the best by far is the effect on the human system, while the cheap vegetable extracts and mineral salts are not only less effective, but also permanently injurious. Being well informed, you will use the true, reliable only laxative, manufactured by the California Syrup Co.
